Field Visit 2021-22

Report

The department of Economics had a field visit to the Shelar farm of indigenous cow breeding at Eksal, Koregaon on 11th January 2021. There were 12 students for the field visit. It was mainly organized to know the importance of the indigenous cow and the market value of its milk products. For human health, indigenous cow's milk is a source of immunity against many types of diseases. It was learned that cow's milk is useful and cow urine is the main basis of organic farming. Also, cow dung can be used as fertilizer in the fields and can be cultivated. Also, there is a huge market for this milk in Mumbai. The price of one liter of milk is 100 rupees in Mumbai. In order to improve the financial condition of the farmers, now there is a need to protect and breed the indigenous cow. This field visit was organized successfully due to the efforts taken by the faculty members and the guidance of the principal Dr. V.S. Sawant.

Field Visit at Wai: Friday, 29th April 2022

Report

The students of the department participate in different activities organized to inculcate certain values and widen the canvas of learning. The prescribed syllabus is learnt in the class and laboratory activities. However, exposure to the nature and outside world definitely add to the knowledge of the students and enhance their experiential learning. Organization of field visit is one of the activities which aimed at taking students to the places where they can learn something new.

After long period of lockdown and epidemic situation caused by the spread of COVID19 in the country, the faculty of the department decided to conduct field visit to the places like Vishwakosh at Wai, Bhilar- The village of Books, Pratapgad and Mahabaleshwar.

Total 14 students and 03 faculty namely Dr. V.J.Wadate, Mr.Sachin Nikam and Dr.Kolekar S.D. departed from D. P. Bhosale College early in the morning at 8.30 a.m. on 29th April, 2022..

All the students and faculty visited the famous Ganapati Ghat and temple. Later on all headed towards Vishwakosh library. The librarian Mr. Manoj Joshi Sir had explained the purpose of the library and the use of reference books in making of the Encyclopedia. Mr. Manoj Joshi answered the questions raised by the students. Dr. V.J.Wadate thanked Mr. Joshi and the officials of Vishkosh for guiding the students providing more information about the workings of the library. The experience was so enthusiastic and made all the students so energetic to head towards the next destination.

Field Visit at Bhilar: Friday, 29th April 2022

The next destination of the visit was Bhilar- the Village of Books. Though a small village, Bhilar is identified and widely recognized as the village of books. We reached there at 1.30 p.m.

The students were surprised to see all the houses converted into libraries. The next reason of astonishment was that the visitors can enter in any house at any time to read the books. This was told to the students by the Project Manager Mr. Mr. Balaji Halde and Programme Coordinator Mr. Rajesh Jadhav at the Main Office of the project. This project is funded by state government of Maharashtra. The idea, concept and it's implementation was well explained by the project coordinator. Pustakanch Gaav (English: Village of Books) is a special library in Bhilar, Maharashtra that opened on May 4, 2017. The initiative was conceptualized and led by Vinod Tawde, Minister of Cultural Affairs and Marathi Language and inaugurated by Devendra Fadnavis, Ex. Chief Minister of Maharashtra. This government initiative is inspired by Britain's Hay-on-Wye, a notable Welsh town known for its book stores. At the time of launch, there were 25 artistically decorated locations in Bhilar that are turned into spots for readers; collectively they housed over 15,000 books in 18 distinct genres. Most books were in Marathi language and there were plans to add additional 25,000 books in other languages such as English, Hindi and Gujarati.

Mr. S. G. Nikam thanked the Project Manager and the officials of the Project for guiding the students and providing more information about the village, visits of the outsiders and cooperation of the villagers, the atmosphere of the village, and the visits and appreciation by foreigners, ministers etc. The students as well as teachers visited most of the houses to see the books available and facilities for reading. Each genre of literature and books on different disciplines of knowledge were found in various sections of the village. The students preferred to visit the houses which were loaded with the books on drama, poetry, fiction, comic books etc. The experience was very energetic and motivating for inculcating reading habits among the students. Total 14 students got benefitted through this activity.
