Celebration of Visit A Zoo Day

The Department of Zoology celebrated 'Visit the Zoo Day' on 28th December 2023 with great enthusiasm. The event aimed to foster a deeper understanding and appreciation for wildlife among students, faculty members, and the community. The highlight of the celebration was a documentary film showcasing various Zoos across India, providing detailed information about the diverse flora and fauna housed in these.

The celebration witnessed active participation from 65 students who eagerly engaged in a lecture by Dr. S. P. Nalawade, the Head of the Department of Zoology. The documentary film presented a virtual tour of Zoos, offering insights into the conservation efforts, breeding programs, and the natural environments created within these facilities. The students not only enjoyed the film but also gained valuable knowledge about different species and their habitats.

Lecture delivered by Head, Dr. S.P. Nalawade

Dr. S. P. Nalawade and the faculty members of the Zoology department played a pivotal role in organizing the event. Their efforts were aligned with the department's broader commitment to creating awareness about the environment and the importance of animal conservation. The celebration of animal-related days throughout the year further emphasizes the department's dedication to instilling a sense of responsibility and care for the animal kingdom.

Question answer session with students

The event highlighted the educational significance of zoos in the modern era. Contrary to outdated perceptions of zoos as cruel prisons, contemporary zoos actively contribute to research on animal behaviour and play a crucial role in protecting endangered species. Zoos are at the forefront of breeding programs, collaborating with institutions worldwide to increase the populations of vulnerable animals.

The Department of Zoology's celebration of Visit the Zoo Day successfully blended entertainment with education. The initiative not only showcased the beauty of wildlife but also underscored the crucial role of zoos in contemporary conservation efforts. The commitment of the department to environmental awareness and animal welfare was evident throughout the event, making it a memorable and impactful occasion for all participants.
